UCSF Health Service Animal Training now available on UC Learning Center

If you’ve ever:

- Had questions about how service animals are accommodated at UCSF Health and BCH SF locations,
- Wondered if that puppy or kitty you see in the hallways of your clinic or unit could possibly be a service animal,
- Found yourself frozen when someone says of their iguana, “she’s my service animal”,

UCSF Health Experience and the Chief Accessibility and Inclusion Officer are pleased to share this Service Animal Training with you! We hope it assists you with information about this accommodation, and you will feel empowered with policy-based information and resources.

If you have any questions about the training, please contact Wendy Tobias, Chief Accessibility and Inclusion Officer (wendy.tobias@ucsf.edu).
